

HEALTH & SAFETY POLICY

Ian Neale Construction Group is committed to promoting a pro-active health and safety environment at all its sites. The company base health and safety management upon a risk assessment policy specific to each individual project. This policy is professionally managed by senior INCG site management and operatives in carrying out their work in a controlled approach designed to eliminate or minimise risk.

INCG provide training, assessment and instruction to ensure all staff and operatives have the required knowledge and specific skills to carry out their duties under safe working practices. All site operatives have been enrolled onto the Construction Skills Certification Scheme and also receive CITB and NVQ approved courses delivered by external training providers.
